

Ferrolifilosophy

Since the moment of its foundation the company has passed a big way from a modest gas boilers workshop to a multinational industrial group with stable positions on heating and air conditioning market. Nowadays FERROLI is a glorious synonym of 10 production units: in Italy, Spain, China, Poland, Turkey and Vietnam; and 12 commercial units: in Italy, Spain, China, France, Turkey, Poland, Rumania, the Netherlands and Great Britain. Today FERROLI, with a qualified staff of 3000 specialists, has a year turnover exceeding 600 million euros.

Another year has passed. A year dedicated to growth and conquest of always new shares of the market in each part of the world. The acquisition of companies, rich in history and technology, has made us stronger and more competitive than ever on the scene of the global market, contributing in a definite way to our evolution from exporters to an international group. But if our plans are spacing far away, our attention is always close to the CUSTOMER. The main target of FERROLI is to assure each year more efficient customer service and each time more reliable quality: our technological evolution is in continuous development and we have the right people to work with. We understand that only our ability to foresee and to anticipate the signs of the market, together with our efforts to always satisfy the customer's requests, will allow us to dominate the future, becoming each year strong and stronger. It's to this that we dedicate ourselves with all our determination.
